Who can tell what a baby thinks When it wakes from its forty winks, And rule its face into numerous kinks. And stares at the light that comes in at the chini-Of its rock-a-by nest, and gapes and blinks? Who can tell what a buby thinks?

Who has courage to hazard a guess As to what the baby may think of its dress, Trimmed and ruffled to such excess? Of what the luby may think of the mess. For the headache and toothache and stomach distress And for all its allings, more or less?

What does it think when it wakes in the night With all the pretty things out of sight, And nobody stirring or "making a light ! Does it think its condition for from right, And that hig folks are not all police, And treat their visitors far from right, And that darkness is meant for a personal eligid is that the reason it takes delight In screaming with all its personal might,

And rousing the neighbors at dead of night What do you think that baby thinks, Looking around like a mild-eyed linx, Watching the spoon that tinkles and chinks, While papa is warming his catnip drinks Over a candle that glimmers and blinks, Humming and drumming out " Captain Jinks, That the children skate to now at the rinks What do you think that the baby thinks?

Do you think that babies are thinkless things, With no other light than instinct brings, With brains as drowsy as butterflies' wings, And heads as empty as a ball that swings Over and under, and rings and springs? When muscular motion is working the spring-Do you say that babies are thinkless things? Then when does the thing begin to grow?

And when does the mind begin to show? And when does the baby begin to know That this is true or that is so? May, when you find out please let me know.

has proved too tough for the cholera. Twice he was attacked by it; but twice he vetoed it, and was saved. A contemporary, speaking of the difficulty of a newspaper editor pleasing everybody, says "Even if one sounded the praises of his Maker, the devil would be offended. "What's the date of your bustle?" was what an anxious papa of Cobleskill asked his well-dressed daughter, after searching for the latest copy of his paper. Good Suggestion .- Since the clergy have held prayers for the benefit of the press, the Chicago

Times suggests that editors unite in supplication for the diffusion of intelligence among the clergy. A traveler in Wales, near Ferryside, seeing a sign over the door with this one word, "Agoserqurdere," asked the woman what she sold, when she said that she did not sell anything, but that

"Agues was cured here." A country paper, speaking of a catch of fishes, says some of them were "slappers." "Slapper." As: positive "whopper," comparative "slapper," superlative "sockdolager."

The way type can be eccentric is shown by an towa special as it appeared in a Chicago paper, about the arrest of a mail robber, "upon whose person was found rifled letters and two nail kegs!" Mail keys of course.

We have often looked for a sentence that would clearly explain itself. A Western paper kindly supplies the want in this beautiful simile - "You might as well try to shampoo an elephant with a thimbleful of soapsuds as to attempt to do business and ignore advertising."

Grace Greenwood says that the fact is that there are too many of us women. And there seems no relief for coming generations except through the heroic remedy of quietly putting all temale infants out of the way. Nothing could he so good for us except a long and glorious succes tion of Herods.

Mr. John Owens, who lately died at Jackson, aged 114, was in some respects a remarkable man. He blushingly admitted that he had used whisky since he was ten years old, and had chewed tobacco and smoked, more or less, for one handred and three years, but he never claimed that he had seen Washington.

An editor in a neighboring city has been read-ing one of Dr. Hall's " Health Tracts," in which the doctor proves conclusively that married men live longer than bachelors. The journalist says he don't know how it is, for he has been married three times, and yet he knows a bald-headed bachelor who is twice as old as he is.

The Boston Advertiser says: "Straws tell which way the wind blows." Recently, when the wind was southeast, about seven hundred straws were used up in one of our first class saloons; but on another day, at the same place, when the wind was east, only about one-tenth that number found their way into sparkling cob-

Two drunken men of Dubuque, Iowa, while in a butcher shop one Sunday recently, agreed to chop off one another's heads, and the one who first placed his head on the block had his ears cut off and his skull fractured before the bystanders interfered with his executioner. "It is greatly feared," says the local papers, " that the wounded man may recover."

SHORTENING A TELEGRAM. - A gentleman took the following telegram to a telegraph office:-"Mrs. Brown, Liverpool street .- I announce with grief the death of uncle James. Come quickly to read will. I believe we are his heirs. -John Black." The clerk, having counted the words, said, "There are two words too many, sir." "All right, cut out with grief," was

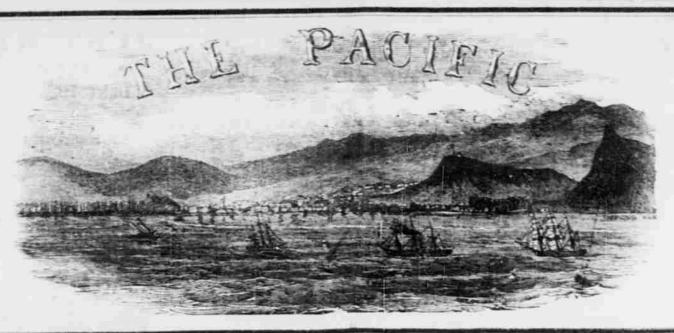

A Danbury man's order for his wife's hat is a 229 movelty in its way. She was sick and couldn't go for the hat, so he drove in himself. He told the milliner to put on a dollar's worth of parsley, afty cents' worth of string beans, ten cents' worth of cherries, a few green currents, a beet or two, a little cabbage, and about three slices of turnips; or, if it was too early for turnips, make it two new potatoes instead.

> THE CLIMATE OF THESE ISLANDS noted the world over for general salubrity, while certain particular localities in the group are more es pecially favorably known. The district of Kona, on the lee side of Hawaii, has long been famed as a place of resort for those afflicted with affections of the lungs. Not a few cases have been known of persons who had been given over as sure to die, by their physicians in California, after a few months residence in the pure, mild air of Kona, recovering robust health and taking a new lease of life.
